About us

Tempeh Today is part of the family-owned company, Schouten Food, with its HQ in Giessen, The Netherlands. Tempeh Today sustainably produces highly nutritious, plant-based products at an affordable price. We are setting up factories throughout India that contain Small Fermentation Units (SFUs), fermentation rooms in which we produce tempeh. Tempeh is a traditionally Indonesian food product, made of soybeans, which we supply to the local Indian market. With Tempeh Today, we will donate 40% of our produced tempeh to Midday Meals for local schools in India, to help reduce protein deficiency in India. We currently have one factory in Bangalore and are currently finalising a second plant in Pune. We plan to open more factories across India in the coming years. For our plant in Pune, we are looking for a Team Leader that can manage the factory, including its staff.

At the moment, we have 5 staff members working in the factory and we plan on expanding this to 20 staff members within the next year.
